NEW THPRD NATURE & TRAILS MAP FREE AT MANY LOCATIONS

The Tualatin Hills Park & Recreation District has updated its popular nature and trails map to help users find parks and natural areas and walk, run, ride and roll across the 50-square-mile district.

The handy foldout features a large map of THPRD's entire service area. It displays the district's growing trails network by surface type and shows bike lanes, rail lines, parks, natural areas and greenways, and park district facilities.

It also includes information on nature classes, wildlife watching, nature play sites, THPRD dog parks, and much more.

Printed copies are available – for free – at all THPRD centers and the Administration Office, Beaverton-area libraries, REI Tanasbourne, the Beaverton Area Chamber of Commerce, and the Washington County Visitors Association.

Users will also find the map at thprd.org/trailsmap. For more information, call the Tualatin Hills Nature Center at 503-629-6350.
