[Press Release]

11TH ANNUAL CEDAR MILL CIDER FESTIVAL SET FOR SEPT. 16

Get ready for history, community, cider, and fun at the 11th annual Cedar Mill Cider Festival on Sunday, Sept. 16, from 1 to 4 pm on the grounds of the historic John Quincy Adams Young House at 12050 NW Cornell Road.

The free neighborhood event, sponsored by the Tualatin Hills Park & Recreation District, will feature fresh cider created on antique presses by members of Boy Scout Troop 208. Cider samples are free. Lunch from Retrolicious will be available for purchase.

Entertainment will be provided by Lauren Sheehan and her band. There will be a Country Store tent filled with a variety of items from local vendors. The History Tent will present information about the JQAY House and restoration efforts. A portion of proceeds from the Country Store sales will go to the restoration fund.

THPRD's Rec Mobile will provide games and activities for kids.

Free parking will be available at Cedar Mill Bible Church (12208 NW Cornell Road) after 1 pm. The grounds are unpaved but wheelchair-accessible. Commuters can access the festival from TriMet lines #62 and #48.

The Cedar Mill Cider Festival is presented by THPRD in partnership with the Cedar Mill News, Bales Thriftway, and Cedar Mill Bible Church.
